

FLORA FIVE

Scientists and health professionals the world over have expressed how important it is to your health to have a healthy gastrointestinal system that is functioning properly.

The reason is simple: this is where most of the ingested compounds with which you come into contact are absorbed into your body and into your blood stream. A gastrointestinal system that is healthy and working properly is one that is teeming with the indigenous, beneficial bacteria that act as “soldiers” in the digestive system to give it the greatest ability to function normally. Most of the bacteria in the gastrointestinal tract is harmless and can even be beneficial to good health by aiding in the absorption of nutrients from food.

Flora Five is a powerful probiotic nutritional formula which offers total support to the gastrointestinal tract which may help to protect against intestinal and other problems.

The micro-encapsulation process of the Flora Five packaging gives the powerful bacterial probiotic the best chance to reach your gastrointestinal tract. Otherwise, most of the good bacteria in the product is destroyed by stomach acids. Now, it can reach your area of digestion that is most benefited by the presence of this beneficial bacteria.

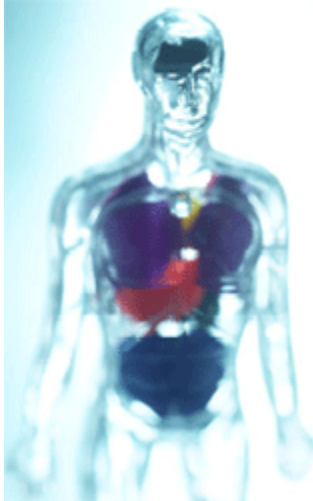

How exactly does it do this? Let's look at what is in Flora Five:

- Flora Five offers you Lactococcus lactis, which has been reported to support normal gastrointestinal function.
- Flora Five offers you Lactobacillus casei, which has been found to be very resistant to gastric acidity and is able to grow very well in the presence of bile.
- Flora Five offers you Lactobacillus rhamnosus and Lactobacillus acidophilus, two of the most studied probiotics, offering significant support of healthy levels of bacteria in the digestive tract.
- Flora Five offers you Bifidobacterium longum, which seems to give support to normal immune function and is resistant to gastric acidity.

Adding Flora Five to your daily health regimen is another tremendous step in over all health and wellness for you.

What's the difference between Flora Five and ThreeLac?

Probiotic (acidophilus) Products

ThreeLac is unique. It contains probiotics that are not available in other products and it also contains a system to get it through the stomach acid without being digested.

There are many probiotic products which promise to overwhelm your Candida with raw numbers of their freshly introduced bacteria. But we don't see any form of acidophilus by itself or in groups being effective enough to rout the Candida from the colon. The morphed fungi are much too virulent. Even the strongest strains of the probiotics we've seen fall short of completing this job.

Also, there have been many studies of late regarding acidophilus -perhaps you've read some of them. These studies find that most acidophilus you buy is already dead. Those that are not dead rarely get through the stomach "fire" to the colon where they need to be alive and working. They get digested along the way!

It's great to take probiotics, and we recommend using them along with ThreeLac. (ThreeLac was not developed to repopulate the colon with "good" bacteria. Its main job is destroying fungus).

When looking for a probiotic you need to be sure of two things; that the friendly bacteria are alive and kicking, and that they have some sort of guaranteed encapsulation process that gets them through the stomach and into the colon without being digested.

Flora Five is a wonderful probiotic product designed to work in conjunction with ThreeLac. It has all the components you could want. Flora Five is a blend of five very active (and living!) beneficial bacteria. It also has the world's best encapsulation system (Japanese) to escort it through the stomach acid so it can reach and repopulate your colon with it's all-natural flora. Each "pearl" has 2.4 billion cfu's.

We recommend you start using this product one to two months into your Candida Yeast Recovery Program.
